Citizens Group Says Moose Cannot Build Home at Antioch Lk.

A group of citizens residing around Antioch lake appeared before the village board Tuesday evening suggesting that the Moose lodge be required to build its new home elsewhere, than at Harden st. and Rte. 173.

The lodge has an option with Boyer Nelson for lake property and proposed to build its new home there.

Residents of that area, however, told the council that no business of any kind can be established or operated at this lake, and that property owners there have been prevented by the state from renting boats.

The group said it has no animosity toward the Moose lodge, and merely hopes it can find a more appropriate location.

Chairmen for Red Cross Drive Named

To Issue $45,000 Revenue Bonds For Water Well, Mains

Ordinance Passed by Board Seeks Early Finish to Improvement

An ordinance was passed Tuesday evening but will not be published until next week by the village board calling for a revenue bond issue to pay for the new water well, sewer and water mains east of the Soo line tracks.

The board provided for a bond issue up to $45,000, but will sell only that amount needed to pay for the cost of the improvements.

The bond issue was approved by Chapman and Cutler, Chicago law authorities on village financing.

It involves no increase in taxes and the bonds will be paid off from revenues on the use of water and the sewers.

The village engineer, David R. Miller, will not have the specifications ready until the last of this month. President James McMillen was informed, but the trustees want to have the financing taken care of early.

After the specifications are completed, the board will seek bids on the construction work.

The improvement calls for a well expected to provide 400 gallons of water a minute, a shelter house and a six inch pipe from the well to the present main at Ida Ave. At the same time a sewer will be laid from the State line road through the village property east of the railroad tracks and connect with the village sewer system.

The new well is expected to take care of the growth of the village and the new subdivisions.

The Crown Realty Co. filed its petition for annexation to the village, but because of the icy roads, the company's president, Max Horwitz, was unable to be present and the matter was tabled until the next meeting, which will be held Mar. 25 for the opening of bids on the Orchard street improvement.

Kenosha Men's Glee Club Will Present Concert Here Mar. 19

Arrangements have been made by the building committee of the Methodist church to present a concert here on March 19, featuring the Kenosha Methodist Men's Glee club and soloists. The program will be presented in the new high school auditorium and proceeds will be placed in the building fund.

Several soloists will present numbers, including Miss Patricia Timm. In keeping with the Lenten season it is planned to devote half of the program to sacred music. Tickets for the concert will be on sale within a few days.

Community Club At Channel Lake Busy These Days

The Channel Lake Community club, always busy, seems to have more interest in the fire than usual at present, with a favorite child contest in progress, teen age and in-betweeners dances with dancing instruction weekly, a paper drive set for this week, first aid meetings, plans for a baseball team for this week, first aid meetings, plans for a baseball team for youngsters this summer, and a play now in rehearsal.

Miss Bessie Barnes is in charge of the teen age and in-betweeners dances and dancing instruction, and Dennis Swanson will coach the baseball team. All boys of the area between the ages of 14 and 20 are invited to take part and should contact Mr. Swanson.

Sequoits Eke Out Victory in First Game of Tourney

Overtime Thriller Won in Last Few Seconds of Game

Antioch's fighting Sequoits basketball team is on the way to new honors today after winning the conference championship. They are still contenders for Regional honors after having won a tough game with St. Edwards of Elgin, in the first game of the Regional last night at Elgin.

The game was another example of the fighting spirit of the local team, in that again they came from behind to go on and win.

The game started out well for Antioch with the locals grabbing an eight point lead during the first quarter. In the second quarter the Elgin team pulled up to end the quarter at 25 all. In the second half Antioch acquired a small lead, with the third quarter ending at 40-37. In the final stanza an inspired Elgin team tossed in a number of quick buckets to take the lead.

With 1 minute, 16 seconds remaining in the game, the score stood 58 Elgin and 53 Antioch, and the game seemed hopelessly lost, but the Sequoits rallied and pulled up to within one point of a tie. With three seconds remaining before the final gun, Boake Baird was fouled, and dropped in a free throw to tie up the score.

In the overtime period the locals piled up 10 points to St. Edwards' five, thus winning with a score of 67-62.

Coach Dick Scott said today that "the team has not learned how to give up," and that he hopes they never will. This spirit seems typical of the brand of ball which the team has played all season.

To Meet Crystal Lake

The team will meet tough competition this evening when they take the floor against Crystal Lake. The Crystal Lake team is a large, rangy team and are excellent rebounders, having been second place winners in their own conference. They took McHenry into camp Tuesday to remain in the running.

Many Attend Tourney

More than 650 rooters from here were present at the game Wednesday and it is expected that as many will journey to Elgin tonight. All buses of the high school and some borrowed from the Antioch Grade school were necessary to transport the crowd.

"Chop, Prune and Reorganize"

Time magazine recently summarized in capsule form the primary problems the Eisenhower administration faces. On the subject of governmental efficiency it said: Government probably is giving the taxpayer nowhere near his money's worth. Eisenhower's administration is going to have to chop, prune and reorganize."

That is about as good a two-sentence description of this all-important issue as could be written. We have just ended a 20-year period in which the government grew to incredible proportions, in which it assumed the responsibility for all manner of activities which used to be considered the province of the individual and local government, and, worst of all, in which millions of people were encouraged to look upon the federal treasury as the source of endless "free" handouts.

The Eisenhower administration is pledged to drastically change this suicidal trend. The President is opposed to the super-government philosophy which dominated the thinking of his immediate predecessors. Time and time again he has said that it is vitally necessary to decentralize government and return local problems to local hands. But no President and no administration, though it were blessed with the wisdom of Solomon and the resolution of Caesar, could accomplish this without the fullest public support and understanding.

That simply means that we must willingly accept government economy when it affects us—not just when it affects the other fellow. It means that special groups, including chambers of commerce, civic organizations, farm organizations, labor organizations and all the rest, must no longer demand economy as a general principle—and then go to Washington demanding bigger and better appropriations for their particular benefit. It means that we can and will have honest, efficient and economical government only if the people sincerely want that kind of government and accept the bitter with the sweet.

Good Value

An organization which represents thousands of retail stores, including both chains and independents, recently conducted a survey to find what representative retailers expect their experience to be in the immediate future. The consensus was that volume will increase—due to better salesmanship, better assortments, and better values.

What makes this interesting to the public at large is the emphasis on salesmanship, values, and variety of goods. In a free competitive economy, every merchant who wants to survive must devote most of his thought and effort to pleasing, not himself or his colleagues, but the demanding consumer. If we feel that one store doesn't give us the right kind of service or charges too much, we transfer our patronage to another store which does a better job of pleasing us. In the case of many kinds of goods, purchases can be deferred for long periods of time or abandoned altogether if we can't find what we want at what we consider the right price. In our free economy, the consumer is king—and every retailer must try to "sell us" with all the intelligence and resources he possesses.

Competition, in sum, tends to give us more goods and better goods, and at fair prices. Typical retail business today earns, as profit, only three or four cents out of each dollar spent with them—some earn as little as one cent. When we walk into a retail store and make a purchase, we get good value.

The Low Down from Hickory Grove

Friends and countrymen—readers of these intellectual gems of heavy pondering—I come up today with an idea that with the ball rolling now in the right direction, and while the iron is hot, the time is right to tap on the shoulder, your mayor, your governor, your school board. Tell 'em to take a squint at Mr. Ike and how he is getting three cheers for his effort to squeeze out the knick-knacks from Govt.—the fummiddles that are wonderful and pleasing to the dames and guys who eat high and plentiful as they cruise the land as Govt. supervisors and such, but for which we simple and trustful taxpayers pick up the check.

If 48 governors and 10 or 20 thousand mayors will catch on—are as smart as they look—and if they choose to be re-elected, they will start trimming sail—there is a big bow coming up from the starboard. They are courting disaster if they pay no heed. Fine tooth combs need to be run through all proposed budgets—now.

Lots of Governors and such, who pass the buck on high taxes and who say it is all the Federal Govt.'s baby—won't have a leg to stand on when Kansas Ike once really gets to bearing down. But there is one Gov. that won't be over any barrel—Bracken Lee of Utah—he never did lean on the Potomac treasury. I doff my new fedora to him.

Yours with the low down,

JO SERRA

State Employees Will File Loyalty Oath Under Pearson Bill

Introduces a Proposal to Change Primary Law

Representative Harvey Pearson has introduced several bills into the current session of the Illinois Legislature, among them being a bill to force all state employees to file a standard loyalty oath before drawing pay from the state. Other measures which will come up in committee for study are a proposal to change the present laws governing primary elections to make it unnecessary for a voter to declare for either party.

The proposal in this respect is that a system kindred to the Wisconsin system be used. Other measures backed by Pearson will include a bill to allow county sheriffs to "parole" prisoners, allowing them to work during the day to provide for their families; and a measure to extend veterans' aid.

Pearson's letter to the Antioch News is reproduced below in part: "To make sure we have no communists on state payrolls, I have introduced in the General Assembly a bill I think will work, without incurring the constitutional rights of innocent people.

"It would require every state official and employee to file a loyalty oath BEFORE he could draw any pay for working for the state of Illinois. Anyone unwilling to swear he is not a communist should not be on the state's payroll. Under this measure, we could weed out such undesirables, but without witch-hunting.

"The oath states that the person is 'not affiliated with any communist organization or communist-front organization as determined by the Subversive Activities Control board of the federal government.' A House committee will study the bill."

Winter Hangs On With 3-In. Snow; Feb. Was Mild

A three-inch snow Tuesday night reminded Antioch that winter is still hanging around despite the fact that this season has been milder than usual.

The snow melted down amounted to about .25 inch in water, according to Roy Kufalik, co-operative observer.

The heaviest snowfall of the winter was four inches on Jan. 17. There were two inches of snow on the ground when February arrived. The coldest temperature for February was five below zero on the first day and the warmest 52 on the 20th.

The precipitation for the month was 1.15 inches.

TODAY'S FASHION FLASH

Men who make passes at girls who wear glasses may now find themselves in a fashionable tangle. They'll enjoy it.

The reason involves a new device called the "Pat, Spec-Grip" (short for patented spectacle gripper)—A long necklace like affair that drapes around the neck to hold glasses in security and style whether they're on or off.

The necklace arrangement, about 20 inches long, is an up-to-date version of those old time ribbons the ladies used to have specially attached to their lorgnettes. Only this new model comes like jewelry, in a sparkling rope of pearls, faceted brilliants and over-all lustre.

Attached to either end of the slim, glamorous spec-holders is a rubber-lined clip which snaps securely to the ear-grip end of any pair of eyeglasses.

These attractive useful Spec Grips can be purchased at

SHORT STORY

SHORT

Letter
From Jessie
By James Marsh

JOAN PERKINS could tell from the happy look in her husband's eyes that he had heard from Jessie Cartwright. Three years without her looking after the children, but he had written to ask Jessie to come back to mother the triplets.

George fairly ran into the house, clutching the envelope. "She's coming back to us, darling. I knew she would . . ."

He stopped and saw the tears in Joan's eyes. She looked tired and noticed the way he had been looking at her.

3-Minute Fiction

Well, she thought, triplets take everything out of a young girl. Only twenty-three, she looked much older, she was sure. A mother can't find time to take pride in herself. She hastily dried her tears before they became a rushing torrent.

"Haven't I been a good mother? They're never hungry, they're clean, and they've never been sick a day in their lives."

"With Jessie back, dear, you can start being a good wife."

"A good wife is a good mother. At least, that's what I've been told."

George interrupted, "I thought we had all this decided before you

She sank into the nearest chair, clutching the arms tightly, and holding back the tears as best as she could.

wrote to Jessie. We both decided that you needed some help with the boys. And we wouldn't have anyone in the house but good old Jessie.

Good Old Jessie, thought Joan, was only twenty-six, cute and had a way of making men forget they had wives. It wasn't that she was jealous. It was more a feeling of not being important where the triplets were concerned.

George put his hands on his wife's shoulders. "Think how we were free to go when Jessie was here before. Think of the old times, Joan, and I'm sure you will see that I'm not wrong in wanting her to return."

"I'll try to see, George. Maybe you're right." The tears started again. She sank into the nearest chair, clutching the arms tightly, holding herself back as best she could.

"I'll tell the boys Jessie is coming. They should know, George."

"Joan, for heaven's sake don't get melodramatic. I'm doing this whole thing only for your sake."

Are you, she wondered! He stood near the window looking at the boys playing in the yard. She suddenly stood up and almost ran to the front door. "Boys, will you please come in."

"Joan . . . do you need to tell them now?"

The three boys stood in the doorway, faces flushed from the cold winter day, snow suits slightly wet.

"We are going to have someone come and live with us. She's a very nice lady and likes to play all kinds of games." But there were traces of sadness under the words that the boys did not detect.

"Why can't you play with us like you always do?" Billy asked.

"I'll bet she'll be a crabby old lady," Bobby said.

"Does she know how to tell stories like you?" Barry asked.

"You can go out and play some more, boys," George came over to the door and gave the triplets a fatherly shove out the door.

"All right, you win, he turned smiling to his wife. He kissed her. You're a wonderful mother. I can see that. And they tell me that a good mother is a good wife. And you're the best."

"George, I don't want to be a spoiled brat about this," Joan said.

"I guess I'm the spoiled one," he said, "always thinking of our freedom and the moments we might find alone. Jessie will find another job . . . in a home where there is only a second rate mother."

Joan felt she could tell her husband about the telegram from Jessie, now. She would have to, to ease her conscience. She would go into the bedroom and bring it to him; the telegram that came early that afternoon. The one that said that Jessie was getting married and would have children of her own to look after. She remembered the last line, I HOPE MR. PERKINS WILL UNDERSTAND.

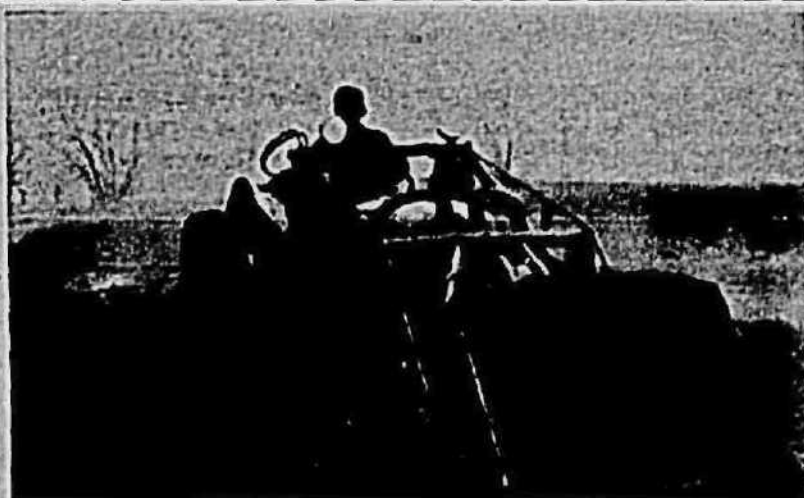

Arrange "Sweet Sixteen" Broadcasts

Al Willis (left), executive secretary of the Illinois High School Association, and Bob Elson, widely known Chicago sportscaster, with John W. Evers, executive vice-president of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and chairman of the Chicago Chapter of the American Red Cross, sign contract which will bring sports fans play-by-play broadcasts of all games of the 1953 "Sweet Sixteen" finals of the Illinois high school basketball tournament, March 18 through 21.

The utility announced that for the third straight year it will sponsor broadcasts of tournament action over a network of radio outlets which will blanket Chicago and an 11,000 square-mile area of northern Illinois.

New Fire Equipment?

A grass fire of large proportions in fields east of the Soo Line tracks and north of route 173 gave the fire department a good workout Saturday at 12:30. Shown above is Village Employee Wm. Thiemann, amidst smoke, while fighting the fire with a new kind of fire fighting equipment, namely, a tractor which is property of the village. "Bill" went up and down the fire line dragging with the rear blade on the tractor smothering the flames. Three pieces of regular fire equipment were used and a back fire set at the south part of the land served to stop the fire.

EASTER'S EVERLASTING PROMISE

Cookies Just Right For
"TV Evenings at Home"

Leaders of public opinion lately have noted that television has brought about a fine "back to the home" movement in America, because it now is possible for the whole family to have excellent entertainment in the evenings especially, without leaving the house. This has brought about a new chance for Mother to show her culinary ingenuity, in providing special "snacks" the family can enjoy—Dad, Mom and the youngster—in the mid-evening. A ready solution to the need is given by Mince Meat Cookies, served with milk or hot chocolate, tea or coffee as the various members of the family desire. They're rich in energy-giving nutrients, tasty, and easy to prepare and serve. Here's how:

Mince Meat Oatmeal Cookies
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups None Such Mince Meat from 28-oz. glass jar
1/2 cup rolled oats
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Sift flour, measure and sift again with soda and salt. Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar, creaming until light and fluffy. Beat in egg. Add flour alternately with mince meat, stirring after each addition until well blended. Stir in rolled oats and nuts. Drop from teaspoon onto greased cookie sheet, about 2 inches apart. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

Farmer's Question
Corner

PREPARED BY American Foundation
For Animal Health

WHAT ABOUT HOG CHOLERA?

Q: How dangerous is hog cholera?
A: Cholera is our worst swine killer; causes losses running into many millions of dollars annually.

Q: Why is cholera so dangerous?
A: The virus of cholera is extremely contagious and one of the most deadly of all in the field of swine diseases.

Q: How is the virus spread?
A: In many ways. It may be spread by contaminated feed, e.g., garbage, wagon and truck wheels, or on the shoes of visitors. Even biting flies may spread it.

Q: What are the symptoms of cholera?

A: Usually it strikes without warning. Pigs lose their appetites, keep to themselves, become weak and depressed, get wobbly on their feet, and may scour. There is no cure. Sick pigs usually die within 4 to 7 days. Very few, if any recover.

Q: What can the farmer do to prevent cholera losses?

A: Vaccination in advance is the only preventive. Pigs should be vaccinated around weaning time. Only healthy pigs should be vaccinated, so a general physical check-up by a veterinarian is always recommended before vaccination.

Q: Are there any other precautions?

A: Yes. Vaccinated pigs should be kept in clean quarters and ranges away from old yards. Pigs should be watched so that they do not pile up or overcrowd at night. Ample drinking water and shade should be provided in hot weather.

NOTE—Due to space limitations, general questions cannot be handled by this column.

Cabbage White

One of the most familiar of all Virginia butterflies is the European cabbage white, introduced from Europe after the middle of the last century, which has thoroughly taken over its new home. This is due partly to the fact that it is extremely prolific, producing as many as eight broods a year where cabbages are plentiful. It will eat almost anything, but on other plants than cabbage seldom produces more than four or five broods.

Fruit Bread

Raisins or currants used for making bread and cake do not sink so readily to the bottom of the bread or cake if they are heated over a slow fire or in a low oven temperature before mixing in with other ingredients.

Sales Slump

In Louisville, Robert Perry asked $1,525 damages from the Moskine Credit Clothing store; $25 for meals eaten out, plus $1,500 for temporary loss of his wife, who left him after misinterpreting a postcard salesman which read, "Please call WA 1660 and ask for Carolyn."

So this is
HOUSEKEEPING

When a usually well-behaved husband suddenly goes amuck and clutches at his bank book in a frenzy born of despair, it's a pretty good sign he's run into the news that a fashion fad is enveloping the ladies. Sometimes, I admit, the poor lady is justified in their behavior but it's come to the point where they automatically run a temperature when the mere word "fashion" is mentioned. Take the other night, for instance.

I had been happily busy with the latest craze to come on the scene and displayed the results of my efforts for my favorite husband to view.

In came Jeff with a, "Hey! What goes on? It looks like the Rose Bowl parade!"

"A mere nothing," I replied coyly. "All nylon flowers to wear in my hair, corages for my dresses, centerpiece for our table, gift-package decorations. It's the latest fashion."

Jeff blanched and went into a ravine about fade and the deplorable state of our budget.

"Hold on a minute," I demanded. "First of all, I made this 'Rose Bowl' parade as you call it and had a lot of fun doing it. Second, I just used discarded nylon hose, followed some simple instructions which I got free, and all it cost our darn old budget was the price of some dye remover and a few packages of all-fabric dye. And if you want to make a big thing out of it . . . why . . . go ahead!"

A much-chagrined husband asked how it was done and I explained the simple process of first removing the color from old nylons, next tinting in any of 50 colors, and finally cutting the nylon and shaping it over wire into petal or leaf shapes. It ended with Jeff enthusiastically giving me ideas on using more of the nylon bouquets, "since," as he grinned, "they're fashionable."

P.S. The Tintex Home Economics Bureau has the free instruction leaflet with complete directions for making nylon flowers. You can have it for the asking at all-fabric dye counters or by mail from the bureau at 485 Fifth Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

CLEVELAND, OHIO—With 15 million flash cameras now being used by amateur and professional picture-takers, flash photography is becoming America's fastest growing hobby. General Electric, which introduced flash bulbs in this country in 1930, reports that 390 million of them will be used this year. Nearly buried under a mound of them is pretty Louise Baker, Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Peterson arrived home after a month's stay with Dr. and Mrs. N. Coniglio of Elmwood Park, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Stoddard brought their baby daughter home Thursday, Feb. 10. The baby was born prematurely on Dec. 31st, at Victory Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Carlson have a new baby girl, born to them on St. Valentine's day at Victory Memorial hospital.

The community and neighbors are very pleased with the new arrivals of the last few months. Mr. and Mrs. H. Severson, a daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Larson, a girl; Mr. and Mrs. W. Stoddard, a girl; and Mr. and Mrs. P. Carlson, a girl—a total of four beautiful baby girls.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Swanson and sons left Feb. 17 for a vacation and visit to Florida to see Muriel's mother, Mrs. J. Heckel, who is still ill.

We are very proud of the courageous battle Amanda Nielson has been waging since her injury to her back. Amanda spends most of her long hours crocheting and has accomplished many pieces of fancy work. Keep up the fine work, Amanda.

The Deep Lake Women's Auxiliary board members are to meet Friday, March 6, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. Heckel.

"You'd be surprised," said the sweet young thing to Herb Shriner, "how many men don't know their wives' sizes after twenty years of marriage." And Herb retorted: "You'd be surprised how many wives' sizes change in twenty years." And then that Bill Cullen comes along and tells about attending the wedding of one of those Kentucky child brides, where they threw TOYS instead of rice.

Springtime Thought: God sends us much, but never gives.

We have to work for what we want To fill our lifetime needs . . . God never throws us big bouquets, But sends us all the seeds.

Never a Dull Moment.

In a desire to bring about more class-interest in the work, she recently introduced the idea of quoting a biblical line at the end of the class period, and asking the pupils to remember and bring in the quotation on the following Sunday. Recently, she gave them that beautiful lines from the Bible: "JESUS SEEKS A HUMBLE HEART," and the next Sunday asked how many could recall the quotation? Only one . . . a cute little freckle-faced youngster held up his hand. "Well," said the Duchess, obviously slightly put out that only one remembered, "What was the quotation?" and the little lad actually jumped up and shouted: "Jesus sneaks thru Hum-boldt Park." As I mentioned above, I, too, am getting a most liberal education.

Your Income Tax

By Ernest J. Sauber
Director of Internal Revenue
First District of Illinois
Nontaxable Income

Certain items of income are specifically exempted by federal laws and regulations and are not subject to federal tax. A brief discussion of some of these items will prove helpful in the preparation of your 1952 income tax return.

Some of the non-taxable items are:

Railroad Retirement Act benefits, Workman's Compensation and Unemployed Compensation, Social Security and Old Age benefits and amounts received under a life insurance contract, paid by reason of the death of the insured.

Dividends: The dividends which you receive on your mutual life insurance policy are not taxable income, but merely represent a reduction of the cost of your protection by the company, whether you accept the cash or allow the dividends to remain with the company to purchase additional insurance.

If your endowment policy has matured and the amount of money you receive is greater than the cost to you, you must report as taxable income the excess of the amount you receive over the cost. But, if you receive proceeds of a life insurance policy upon the death of an insured person, you do not report this money as income.

Interest: Interest from $5,000.00 of principal of federal bonds issued before March 1, 1941, is exempt from federal tax.

Interest received from municipal bonds or from county or state issues is tax exempt, but you cannot deduct the interest you pay on money you borrow to buy such bonds.

Employer Benefits

The 1951 Revenue Act for taxable years beginning after 1950, exempts from tax, death benefits not in excess of $5,000 paid to beneficiaries of an employee by the employer on account of the death of the employee. This exemption from tax is made possible by a pre-existing contract legally obligating the employer to make such payment. However, where the employer holds such payments under an agreement to pay interest thereon, the interest payments are includible in gross income.

Damages and Gifts

Damages paid to you for personal injury are not taxable nor are the insurance benefits you receive while sick. It is important to remember that any hospitalization reimbursement or health and accident benefits you receive must be deducted from the allowable medical bills.

Gifts are excludable from gross income even though the income from a gift is taxable. Tips are not gifts and are, therefore, taxable income.

The value of property acquired by devise, bequest or inheritance is excluded from gross income, but the income derived from such inherited property is not exempt.

While a majority of taxpayers are still working on their income tax returns, which must be filed by March 16, the Bureau of Internal Revenue's refunding program is keeping pace with the early returns. E. J. Sauber, director of internal revenue, announced today.

About 150,000 persons who filed early tax returns have already received refunds. At the present time, returns are being processed as received. The Director warns, however, that taxpayers who wait until the March 16 deadline for filing 1952 tax statements may expect a longer wait.

It is the policy of the Internal Revenue Service to issue refunds to those who are entitled to them as soon as possible, but in cases of extra delay, the Bureau pays interest on the amount due, Mr. Sauber, said.

The taxpayer himself may hasten his refund, the director suggests, by writing the word "Refund" in the lower left-hand corner of the envelope in which he mails his tax return. Mail so marked will be given priority.

Mr. Sauber also advises that taxpayers who change residence after filing their tax forms should notify the Director's office of their new addresses. Each year tens of thousands of refund checks are returned

Kenosha Men's Glee Club Will Appear Here In Benefit Concert

Above is shown the Kenosha Methodist Men's Glee Club which will present a concert under the sponsorship of the Antioch Methodist Church building committee on Thursday, March 19, at the new high school auditorium. Composed of thirty-six voices, the club will present sacred numbers and feature several soloists, among them the well known soprano, Patricia Timm.

to Revenue offices, and over one million remained undelivered at the end of 1952. These checks, some issued ten years ago, average $32.00.

Mr. Sauber says that positive identification and claiming of old checks is difficult, and that taxpayers with claims should be able to supply information on the amount of refund and the taxable year involved.

Last year the Bureau made refunds to 31 million taxpayers.

Director of Internal Revenue E. J. Stauber said today that numerous married persons in his district are erroneously using "Head of Household" rates in preparing their 1952 individual income tax return.

The "Head of Household" tax rate, Director Stauber explained, is available only to unmarried persons under those circumstances described in the Form 1040 Instructions and provides for tax benefits approximating one-half those received by a married couple filing jointly and taking advantage of the split-income computation. Unmarried persons qualified for the "Head of Household" tax rate when they meet the statutory requirements as outlined on page 4 of the official instructions accompanying Form 1040.

Taxpayers claiming the benefit of "Head of Household" status should not use Form 1040A but should file on Form 1040.

Special Super and Roadmaster!

It's more than pride that makes a man want a lot of horsepower beneath the hood of the car he owns.

For the real point in reaching record horsepowers and compression ratios goes beyond miles per hour. It steps up performance and economy in normal driving.

That's what Buick engineers did when they upped the power and compression of each 1953 Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER—to the highest figures in Buick's fifty-year history.

In the SUPER and ROADMASTER, they put a new kind of V8 Engine—first passenger-car V8 with 8.5 to 1 compression, and a long list of other major engineering advances.

For the SPECIAL, they redesigned the famed F-263 Fireball 8 Engine—gave it shorter flame travel, faster firing, higher horsepower and compression.

And to these spirited engines they coupled the new Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive* that adds flash-fast, quiet getaway to utter smoothness.

Just to give you an example of what all this means: The 1953 Buick SPECIAL with Dynaflo can beat the mighty 1952 ROADMASTER on getaway—can reach 30 mph (when the law allows) with a combined speed and jerk-free smoothness no other car can equal.

Of course, there's far more to these new Buicks for 1953—some seven dozen new features alone.

But why not come in and see for yourself that these are the greatest Buicks—and the greatest values—in fifty great years.

SHORT STORY

No Apologies

By Georgia C. Nicholas

"YOU'RE LATE, Neil Horner!" Taffy handed Neil her jacket to hold for her.

"I know it," Neil said. "And what's more I forgot to bring back that book that my mother borrowed from your mother."

3 Minute Fiction

"And you're not even sorry?" Taffy prodded. Neil opened the door for her. "I'm only ten minutes late and your mother said she was in no hurry for the book."

Taffy didn't answer until they were in the car and on their way to the Horner residence for dinner. "Just how late do you have to be to say you're sorry?"

"What good would it do to say I'm sorry?"

Taffy didn't answer. She didn't want to start a quarrel now. She didn't know Neil's parents very well and she did hope they'd like her. Taffy's mother and Neil's mother belonged to the same club and that's how they became acquainted.

"See why I never apologize," he whispered.

"When are you going to say you'll marry me?" Neil asked as if he didn't know Taffy was peeved.

"I'm not. You haven't any manners."

"I haven't had any complaints before. Don't I always open doors for you and all the other things a guy is supposed to do?"

"Oh, yes, the manners that can be seen. But just between us two sometimes I think you're downright rude. You never apologize."

"When are you going to say you'll marry me?"

"I won't say it till you say you're sorry you were late and that you forgot the book."

This time Neil was the quiet one. The situation was still unsettled when he turned onto a winding driveway. "Oh, Neil, do you think they'll like me?" Taffy asked.

"Does it matter?"

Taffy had no chance to answer that one. A maid opened the door for them. She showed Taffy to a bedroom and while Taffy was taking off her jacket Mrs. Horner entered.

"I'm so sorry I wasn't at the front door," Mrs. Horner mourned. "I was all upset this afternoon because the butcher didn't send the kind of meat I ordered. I'm afraid it isn't going to be a very good dinner."

Taffy did her best to assure Mrs. Horner that she was quite comfortable without her jacket. It seemed that the oil burner was out of kilter.

"I don't know how I look in this dress," Mrs. Horner said. "It's one I made myself and I just finished it this afternoon."

Taffy laughed her polite little laugh and they went downstairs. Mr. Horner was a much more comfortable person to meet. He tried to make conversation at the dinner table and cancel his wife's depreciation of everything. After dinner he said, "Mother, I think our guest might like to see some of your paintings."

"Yes," Neil said. "Mother's giving Grandma Moses a run for her money."

Mr. Horner led the way into the living room. Mrs. Horner said, "Oh, they really aren't worth looking at."

"Then let's not look at them."

Had Taffy said that? Taffy had. She realized it on the word 'look' and that was too late. She put her hand over her mouth and faced Neil. His mouth was open as if he'd started to say something, changed his mind and forgotten to shut it. But there was a sparkle in his eyes, the same sparkle she had loved for a long time.

She wasn't quite clear about who said what during the next minute. But somehow Mr. Horner led Mrs. Horner out of the room and people said goodnight. She still stood there looking helplessly at Neil.

He held out his arms. "See why I ever apologize?" he whispered.

"Yes, I see. I still think you carry it to extremes, but if I can ever be forgiven for what I just said I'd like to marry you sometime."

"Forgiven? That was just what my mother needed. Now let's take this book back to your mother and tell her we're engaged."
